FARMERS PLAN NEW REEVE INCREASE 25 PERCENT, HOGS

With the largest grain crop in the history of Canadian agriculture, the farmers of the dominion have accepted the challenge of Britain to provide even greater quantities of foodstuffs in 1943 particularly in pork products, milk products and eggs. British farmers have been asked to break up another million acres of grass land to help combat the submarine menace of the Atlantic. The farmers of Canada in their production campaign are | London, spent a five-day Christactually in the battle of the Atlantic.

A glance at the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this paper outlines the various precautions recommended by the department of agriculture which hog raisers should follow to get the best results. Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn, Newmarket, has just been conducting a survey of the mortality in young pigs in the county of York and he states that in one of the larger townships the loss is as high as 50 percent. "It is of a piece with the American state department's desire to play ball with the forces of appeasement," said Mr. Mc-Culley, citing the U. S. attitude toward the Free French taking of St. Pierre and Miquelon, and its attitude to the Franco regime, and declaring again that "the means must be of a piece with the end,"

He cited too the November acceptance by U. S. Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson of an offer of help, in forming an Austrian unit in the U. S. army, from "a young man who has the audacity to sign himself 'Otto of Austria'." He couldn't see the Hapsburgs, "one of the most aristocratic and autocratic houses that has ever held power in Europe," producing a leader for the democratic forces of southern Europe.

Mr. McCulley said that Mr. Churchill's statements that he didn't "become prime minister to preside over the liquidation the British empire" and "What we have we hold" made clear that Mr. Churchill did not regard the Atlantic Charter as applying to India or possessions of the British crown.

Rending the United States press made Mr. McCulley feel that "if there is anything in our empire administration which is going to cause misunderstanding hetween ourselves and our other allies it is our administration of India and other portions of the British empire.

"When you find a responsible writer like Pearl Buck saying that we will have to fight the war all over again in terms of color it is time that we made sure that the four freedoms for all people means just that.

"Another point that worries me is our reluctance to give aid to China. China was the first country to take fascism on the chin, to fight our battles-at n time when Canadian nickel and U. S. scrap iron were going to Japan to be used against China.

"The present war is not a war between nations. It is a war between the forces of the right and the forces of the left. It is a struggle between the forward march of man and forces which would enslave and nullify the creative spirit of man and force him back into a new barbarism where the spirit of the individual means nothing except insofar as it serves the state.

"As I see it, there are those in all our nations who do not wish to win a true victory."

A MOVE IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

The dominion government's long-awaited action on liquor cannot be said to be extreme. It is calculated to reduce consumption to pre-war levels, and cannot be termed prohibitory. There is one particular in which the government has shown a considerable amount of courage, and that is in its ban on advertising of liquor. Some provinces, including Ontario, already had such a ban, and it is our opinion that Ontario publications didn't suffer as a result.

Advertising promotes sales of the product advertised. The more money spent on alcoholic drink the less money there is to spend on other merchandise, and the less can manufacturers and merchandisers afford to advertise those other products. Ontario publications do not carry less of address.

advertising than publications in provinces where liquor advertising has been permitted. They carry more advertising of other kinds, whether for the reason we have suggested, or because advertisers in other provinces get tired of competing with the voluminous liquor advertising, or because Ontario is more prosperous, or whether it is just because Ontario publications must get out and "hustle" other types of advertising.

However, publications which have been free to take, and have been taking, liquor advertising won't feel so philosophical about the government's ruling as will Ontario publications. They will not feel so friendly to Mr. King as they might have done if he had not interfered with liquor advertising, but they should not look to Mr. Bracken as a possible savior, for Manitoba is another province where liquor advertising had been banned and Manitoba under Premier Bracken had already shortened hours of sale.

The dominion government deserves praise for what it has done. We would like to see it go farther and inaugurate, perhaps in association with the national nutrition campaign, an educational temperance program. It would be a contribution to the health and wealth of Canada.

THEY NEVER TIRE

Old soldiers, seemingly, never tire of serving. Newmarket Great War veterans have done a grand job during this war of providing soldiers' comforts for this war's soldiers (who include, incidentally, a few of their Great War comrades). Few citizens realize, for instance, the work which War Veteran Alex. McIntosh has done in gathering the names and addresses, and changes of address, of the soldiers, sailors and airmen on active service, outside Canada. Relatives of the soldiers could simplify his arduous task by reporting to him promptly, and accurately, changes # and to express the HOPE that 1943 may bring VICTORY and

The people in their millennial and revolutionary march toward manifesting here on earth the dignity that is in every human soul, hold as their credo the Four Freedoms enunciated by President Roosevelt in his message to Congress on January 6, 1941. These four freedoms are the very core of the revolution for which the United Nations have taken their stand.

And now, as we move forward toward realizing the Four Freedoms of this people's revolution, I would like to speak about four duties. It is my belief that every freedom, every right, every privilege has its price, its corresponding duty without which it cannot be enjoyed. The four duties of the people's revolution, as I see them today, are these:

- 1. The duty to produce to the limit. 2. The duty to transport as rapidly
- as possible to the field of battle. 3. The duty to fight with all that is
- 4. The duty to build a peace—just, charitable, and enduring.

The fourth duty is that which inspires the other three.

We failed in our job after World War I. We did not know how to go about it to build an enduring worldwide peace. We did not have the nerve to follow through and prevent Germany from rearming. . We did not insist that she "learn war no more." We did not build a peace treaty on the fundamental doctrine of the people's revolution. We did not strive wholeheartedly to create a world where there could be freedom from want for all the peoples. But by our very errors we learned much, and after this war we shall be in position to utilize our knowledge in building a world which is economically, politically and, I hope, spiritually sound.

Modern science, which is a byproduct and an essential part of the people's revolution, has made it technologically possible to see that all of the people of the world get enough to eat. Half in fun and half seriously, I said the other day to Madame Litvinoff: "The object of this war is to make sure that everybody in the world has the privilege of drinking a quart of milk a day." She replied: "Yes, even half a pint." The peace must mean a better standard of living for the common man, not merely in the United States and England, but also in India, Russia, China and Latin America—not merely in the United Nations, but also in Germany and Italy and Japan.

Some have spoken of the "American Century." I say that the century on which we are entering—the century which will come of this war-can be and must be the century of the common man. Perhaps it will be America's opportunity to suggest the freedoms and duties by which the common man must live. Everywhere the common man must learn to build his own industries with his own hands in a practical fashion. Everywhere the common man must learn to increase his productivity so that he and his children can eventually pay to the world community all that they have received.

No nation will have the God-given right to exploit other nations. Older nations will have the privilege to help younger nations get started on the path to industrialization, but there must be neither military nor economic imperialism. The methods of the nineteenth century will not work in the people's century which is now about to begin. India, China and Latin America have a tremendous stake in the people's century. As their masses learn to read and write, and as they become productive mechanics, their standards of living will double and treble. Modern science, when devoted wholeheartedly to the general welfare, has in it potentialities of which we do not yet dream.

And modern science must be released from German slavery. International cartels that serve American greed and the German will to power must go. Cartels in the peace to come must be subjected to international control for the common man, as well as being under adequate control by the respective home governments. In this way, we can prevent the Germans from again building a war machine while we sleep. With international monopoly pools under control, it will be possible for inventions to serve all the people instead of only the few.

Yes, and when the time of peace comes, the citizen will again have a duty, the supreme duty of sacrificing the lesser interest for the greater interest of the general welfare. Those who write the peace must think of the whole world. There can be no privileged peoples. We ourselves in the United States are no more a master race than the Nazis. And we cannot perpetuate economic warfare without planting the seeds of military warfare. We must use our power at the peace table to build an economic peace that is just, charifable and enduring.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

HOCKEY GETS AWAY ON MONDAY NIGHT

Aurora town hockey will open Monday evening at 8.30 o'clock when Roy Middlebrook's Aces. composed mostly of farm boys and one or two former Newmarket stars, will clash with Bill Holloway's Sisman shoemakers.

The shoeies are building their attack around the veteran Wes. The fans will see some brand-new faces in action, and what the teams may lack in condition they will make up with grit. Both teams are anxious to get
